DEDICATION.

To

The President and Directors of the Bank of Madras.

Gentlemen,

In being permitted to dedicate to you these Tables of Interest, I beg to assure you that I have used my best endeavours to combine facility of reference with convenience of form, and flatter myself that in point of simplicity—an essential requisite in a Work of this nature—it will be found to excel all others extant; the usual order having been reversed, and the rate of Interest made the subject of reference instead of the Page.

I have spared no pains in guarding as much as possible against typographical errors, but as a few may have crept in, notwithstanding all precaution on my part, I have with a view to ensure immediate detection inserted two key figures at the foot of each Page, and explained their use in the Preface.

Permit me, in conclusion, to offer you my grateful acknowledgments for the encouragement I have received from you individually and collectively, and to assure you that I shall ever esteem it my highest reward to have merited your patronage and support.

I have the honor to be,

Gentlemen,

Your most obedient servant,

Jno. P. Meppen.

PREFACE.

In offering to the Public a set of Interest Tables, when the press abounds with so many works of a similar nature, an apology may perhaps be deemed necessary. The Author trusts, however, that the practical utility of these Tables, and the originality and accuracy of their construction, will justify the many flattering commendations which they have received from some of the best Accountants at this Presidency, by whom their merits have been tested.

Considering the simplicity of the principle on which these Tables have been constructed, as well the nicety of result which they produce with so much comparative facility, it has struck the Compiler as a matter of surprize, that they had not been earlier introduced into commercial calculations, in which accuracy and despatch are so very desirable.

These considerations induced the Author to compile these Tables, and submit them to the inspection of several Mercantile Gentlemen, who have been pleased to pronounce them novel, useful, and deserving of the attention and patronage of the Public.

The Author has spared no pains to free the Work from typographical errors—in fact the Tables have been so arranged, that it is almost impossible that any could remain undetected, the Interest Column being in progressive order, and that of the Principal having two key figures attached to the foot of each Page for their detection, all that is required, being the adding mentally one or other of the figures to the product preceding that under reference.

The Author hopes that, upon an examination of these Tables, they will be found neither unworthy of the patronage they have already received, nor undeserving the support of a liberal Public.

INTRODUCTION.

THESE Tables differ from those in common use, as they shew the principal that will produce any interest for one day from one Pie progressively to any given sum, and the mode of finding the interest with considerable facility; one operation only having to be performed, when a reference to the Tables immediately gives the result. Those Tables in which the interest is shewn in components and fractions with the additional labour of adding 5 or 6 sums together to arrive at a result, it must be admitted, are attended with much confusion, independent of the possibility of an error creeping in, in the process; and should a typographical error remain unnoticed, the calculations are worth nothing, and the loss of much time and labour is thereby caused.

CASE I.

To calculate Interest on any sum for any number of Days.

RULE.

There are two methods of finding the Interest by the following Tables on any given sum and for any number of days, and recourse may be had to either, both being equally simple.

1st.—To multiply the number of days into the given sum and refer to the Table for the nearest approximating sum to the Product, opposite which will be seen the Interest at once.

2d.—To multiply the number of days into the Interest opposite the nearest less approximating Principal to the given sum, and add to it the Interest opposite the product of the difference between the approximating Principal and the given sum, multiplied into the number of Days.

EXAMPLE.

Required the Interest on Rs. 312 „ 13 „ 10 for 110 Days at 4 ℔ Cent ℔ Annum :—

BY RULE 1ST.

Rs. 312 „ 13 „ 10×110=34,415, to which on reference to the Table 34,409 is found to be the nearest sum, opposite which is seen the Interest at once............Rupees.	3 „ 12 „ 4

BY RULE 2ND.

By a reference to the Table it is found that 285 is the nearest less approximating sum, opposite which in the Interest column is 6 Pie×110....................................	3 „ 7 „ 0
The difference between 312 13 10 or 313 and 285 is 28×110=3,080 then by a reference to the Table, the Interest opposite the nearest less sum to this product is found to be..................................	0 „ 5 „ 4
Which sums added together, give the Interest....................................Rupees.	3 „ 12 „ 4 as by Rule 1st.

OBSERVATION.

When the component parts of a Rupee occur, to save trouble and prevent error in the process of multiplication, it is considered sufficiently accurate to omit them when under 8 Annas and when they amount to 8 Annas o-upwards, to add 1 to the Rupees, as in cases only where the number of Days is large, the Interest will not be affected thereby beyond the very trifling sum of 1 or 2 Pice, which cannot be of much consequence.

CASE II.

To calculate the Interest or Discount on Bills or Promissory Notes.

To discount a Bill or Promissory Note, is to procure Cash for it before it falls due, and a Note is said to be discounted when it is endorsed and delivered to any person or banking company who pays its value, that is, a sum which, with the Interest on it till the Note becomes due, is equal to the amount specified in the Note.—The period of time between the date on which a Note is discounted and that on which it falls due is called the time to run, and it must be noticed that 3 Days are generally allowed, after the expiration of the term of a Note, which are called days of grace, so that in computing the time to run, these must be added to the term of the Note, and interest charged thereon.

RULE.

Find how long the Bill has to run, reckoning from the day it is discounted to the day it is payable, (including the days of grace.) Then, compute the interest on the sum of the bill for that time, which interest is reckoned the discount. The difference between the discount and the sum of the bill is the proceeds; that is, the sum received from the banker for the bill.

EXAMPLE.

Discounted on the 14th of May, a Promissory Note for Rs. 4,200 drawn 9th April, and payable 4 months after date: required the net amount at 5 per Cent Interest.

A Note drawn 9th April, at 4 months date, is due 12th August.

Then, from 14th May to 12th August is 90 Days.

Rupees 4,200 × 90=3,78,000

And by referring to the Table, the Interest is found to be as follows:

Opposite 3,00,000...	...41 „ 1 „ 6
And opposite 77,981 the nearest to 78,000...	...10 „ 10 „ 11
Rs.	...51 „ 12 „ 5

EXPLANATION.

From 14th May, the day the bill is discounted, till the 12th August, the day on which it is payable, is 90 days, which is the time to run; therefore, 90 days interest is calculated on the bill, and the result is Rupees 51 12 5 which is the discount. The discount or interest being deducted from the amount of the Promissory Note, the remainder is the sum to be paid to the holder of the Note—thus:

Amount of the Note...	...4,200 „ 0 „ 0
Less Interest for 90 Days at 5 per cent... ...	51 „ 12 „ 5
The net Amount... Rs.	...4,148 „ 3 „ 7

OBSERVATION.

When the term of a bill is expressed in months, calendar months are always understood. Thus, if a bill be dated 1st January, and payable one month after date, the month will expire 1st February. And if a bill be dated 28th, 29th, 30th, or 31st January, and payable one month after date, the month will expire on 28th February in common years, and in the three latter cases on 29th February in leap years; also, the term of a bill drawn 31st July, at 4 months, expires 30th November.

EXPLANATION.

Here are introduced the Sums on either side of the Account in the order of their dates, adding each sum on the Dr side to the previous balance, because it is money lodged, and therefore increases the amount of Cash A & Co. had in the Bank; and subtracting the sums on the Cr. side, because it is money drawn, and therefore decreases the amount of money in the Bank.

Note. It is proper, before we find the number of days betwixt each transaction, to try if (Rs. 830) the last balance be the same as the balance of the Account, which will check the additions and subtractions; and before multiplying by the days, to try if (364) the sum of the column of days be equal to the number of days that intervene from (30th January) the date on which the account commenced to bear interest, to (31st. December) the period to which the account is brought up.

The following mode of computing Interest on Accounts Current, is considered as expeditious as the above method, and is sometimes practised.

			Rs. Days	Dr.	Cr.
January	1	To Balance.	3,550×364=	12.92,200
February	20	To Cash.	700×314=	2,19.800
April	18	To ditto.	300×257=	77,100
June	3	To ditto.	1,250×211=	2,63,750
July	8	To ditto.	630×176=	1,10,880
October	30	To ditto.	550× 62=	34,100
January	20	By Cash.	1,000×345=		3,45,000
March	3	By ditto.	810×303=		2,54,520
"	27	By ditto.	1,250×279=		3,48,750
May	21	By ditto.	1,460×224=		3,27,040
August	31	By ditto.	400×122=		48,800
November	7	By ditto.	1,200× 51=		64,800
				19,97,830	13.88.910
			Deduct...	13,88,910
				6.08,920 same as before.

In the above method multiply each sum lodged by the number of days between the date on which they were respectively lodged, and the day of settlement, 31st December, also multiply each sum drawn by the number of days between the date on which they were respectively drawn till the said 31st December, extending the latter products in a different column from those of the former, and marking the former Dr. and the latter Cr.; then subtract the sum of the products of the Cr. from those of the Dr. and refer to the Table as before for the Interest.

CASE V.

To calculate the Interest due on a Cash-Credit Account.

RULE.

Add or subtract the sums drawn or lodged, to or from the balances, according as they are in favor of the Merchant or against him. When the balance is in favor of the Merchant, add the sums lodged, and subtract those drawn; when against him, add the sums drawn out and subtract those lodged. Mark the balances in favor of the Merchant Dr. and those in favor of the Bank Cr.; multiply the several balances by the time they were respectively due, and extend the products in favor of the Merchant in a different column from those in favor of the Bank. Divide the amount of each column of products according to the rate ℘ Cent to be allowed each party, and then refer to the Table for the balance of Interest.

The statement of the transactions in an Account Current or Cash-Credit Account, is always made in the Dr. and Cr. form.—The Dr. or left hand side, when the statement is made out by the Merchant, contains the various sums deposited in the Bank, and the Cr. side those drawn. If the statement were made out by the Bank, the opposite would be the case.

EXAMPLE.

Required the balance of Principal and Interest due on the following Cash-Credit Account, made up to the 7th of November, allowing 5 ℘ cent when the balance is due to the Bank, and 4 ℘ Cent when due to A, and Co.

In this account the balance is sometimes due to the one party, and sometimes to the other. At the first, there is a balance of Rs. 2,300 due to the Bank and on the 10th April there is Rs. 800 due to them. On the 20th A. and Co. lodge Rs. 1,450 which discharges what they owed, and leaves a balance of Rs. 650 due to them. The balances continue in their favor till the 2d of August, when they drew Rs. 3,400 being all the money they had in the Bank. The balances which follow are all in favor of the Bank, as A. and Co.'s drafts exceed their payments.

The days are computed in the same manner as those of the preceding example, and the products in A. and Co's favor extended in a different column from those due to the Bank. Then find the Interest due to each party, and add the balance which is due to the Bank to the balance of the Principal also due to the Bank. The amount is the sum owing to the Bank by A. and Co on the 7th of November.

The following form of computing Interest on Cash-Credit Accounts is also in practice.

CASE III.

To calculate the Interest on a Debt when partial payments are made at short intervals.

RULE.

Deduct the first partial payment from the Debt, the second from such balance, the third from the remaining balance, and so on. Multiply the sum, and the several balances respectively by the number of Days they respectively remained unpaid, and refer to the Table for the nearest approximating sum to the product, when the interest will be seen at once.

EXAMPLE.

A sum of Rs. 3,600 is lent out on the 10th April, of which Rs. 1,800 is paid 10th May; Rs. 800 on the 4th of July; and the balance or Rs. 1,000 on the 13th of August: required to know how much Interest is due at 5 per Cent.

April 10...	...Lent Rs.	3,600	× 30 Days =	1,08,000
May 10...	...Paid „	1,800
	Balance	1,800	× 55 Days =	99,000
July 4...	...Paid	800
	Balance	1,000	× 40 Days =	40,000
Augt. 13...	...Paid	1,000		2,47,000

In the Table, opposite... ... ...2,00,000 is 27 „ 6 „ 4
And the nearest sum to... ... ... 47,000 „ 6 „ 7 „ 0

The interest due... ... ...Rs. 33 „ 13 „ 4

EXPLANATION.

The amount being lent on the 10th April and the first payment made on the 10th of May, an interval of 30 days, the interest for that period being due on it, the sum is multiplied by 30 and the product extended. On the 10th May a balance of Rs. 1,800 remained unpaid, and 55 days after or on the 4th July another partial payment is made of Rs. 800, the former balance is consequently multiplied by 55 and the product extended. The balance due on the 4th July is Rs. 1,000 which is finally paid up on the 13th August, being a period of 40 days from the former payment, and it is therefore multiplied into 40 and the product extended. The whole of the products are then added together, and a reference to the table for the nearest sum to the product shews at once the amount of interest due.

The following method is also sometimes used in computing interest,—in this case, resuming the above example, take the number of days from 10th April till the 13th August, the debt remaining unpaid to that date, which is 125 days, and multiply into the sum of the whole debt, and from that product deduct the products of the sums paid to account, by the number of days, from the dates on which they were respectively paid, until the 13th of August, then proceed by a reference to the Tables, which gives the interest as before:—

April 10 Lent this day..............Rupees 3,600 × 125 = 4,50,000
May 10 Paid in part......Rupees 1,800 × 95 = 1,71,000
July 4 Paid in part........ „ 800 × 40 = 32,000
——— 2,03,000
August 13 Paid balance..... „ 1,000
———
2,47,000

CASE IV.

To calculate the Interest due on an Account Current with a Bank.

RULE.

To the Sum in the Bank at the commencement of the Account, add the sums lodged, and subtract the sums drawn in the order of their dates. Multiply the various balances by the number of days they have respectively been in the Bank, and refer to the Table for the Interest, according to the rate ⅌ Cent.

EXAMPLE.

Required the Interest at 6 ℔ Cent on the following Account Current, made up to the 31st, December.

[EXPLAN]ATION.

From this account it wil appear that on the 1st January, the customer lodged in the Bank 5,000 Rupees for which he was therefore Cr. till the 10th of January, when he drew out by Cheque Rupees 1,000 leaving the balance still Cr. 4,000 Rupees. He is entitled to Interest, say on his first lodgment of Rupees 5,000 during the time it remained untouched in the Bank, viz: from the 1st to the 10th of January being 9 days. The sum is therefore multiplied by the number of days (5,000 × 9) and the product carried out into the "Cr. Product" column. The same course is pursued on the other sums remaining at his credit, after deducting the amount of Cheques until the 15th January, when he becomes Dr. for Rs. 3,000. The Bank is entitled to Interest on this sum at 5 per cent till the next operation, on the 20th January, being 5 days, and the product (3,000 × 5) is accordingly carried out into the "Dr. Product" column, and so on with all the remaining entries,—the balance continuing Dr. until the time of furnishing the account on the 1st of March. At this date the amounts of the Dr. and Cr. products are added up, and the value of each ascertained, by a reference to the Tables. The Dr. balances being charged 5 Per Cent and the Cr. balances having 4 Per Cent allowed for them; the difference between the two is the amount of interest due to the Bank, which, being added to the Principal, also due by the Customer, shews the state of his account up to the day of making out the same, and rendering it to him.

CASE VI.

To calculate Interest on Bonds or Government Securities, when the Interest is paid quarterly or half yearly.

RULE.

AT FOUR PER CENT.

For 3 Months —divide the given sum by 100, and the quotient will be the answer.

For 6 Months—divide as above and multiply the quotient by 2.
„ 9 Months—divide as above and multiply the quotient by 3.

AT FIVE PER CENT.

For 3 Months—divide the given sum by 100, add ¼ of the quotient, the sum total will be the answer.
„ 6 Months—divide as above and multiply the quotient by 2½.
„ 9 Months—divide as above and multiply the quotient by 3¾.

For the broken period intervening between one quarter or half year and another, calculate as before, by multiplying the number of days into the given sum and refer to the Table, to which interest add that of the quarter or half year and the sum total will give the result.

EXAMPLE I.

Purchased on the 9th May a Government Promissory Note of the 4 Per Cent Loan of 1835-36 dated 31st March 1836—No. 10, 500 for Company's Rupees 500, the interest payable half yearly viz. 31st March and 30th September: required to find the Interest due.

31st March to 9th May = 39 Days.

Rs. 500 × 39 = 19,500 to which on reference to the Table
19.486 is found to be the nearest sum and the Interest opposite.
Rs. 2 „ 2 „ 2.

EXPLANATION.

The number of days between the date of the last payment of the Interest (31st March) and the date of purchase (9th May) being 39 Days, it is multiplied into the amount of the bond Rs. 500, a reference is then made to the Table for the nearest product, and the Interest is seen in the adjoining column.

EXAMPLE II.

Purchased on the 9th of May, a Government Promissory Note of the 5 per cent loan of 1825-26 No. 13,600 for Sa. Rs. 5000 the Interest payable quarterly viz. 30th Jany., 30th April, 31st July and 31st Octr.: required to know the Interest.

Sa. Rs, 5,000 @ 106½ = Co.'s Rs. 5,325.

30th Jany to 9th May = 3 Months and 9 days.

Rs. 5,325 ÷ 100 = 53 „ 4 „ 0
13 „ 5 „ 0 + ¼ of the quotient as ℔ Rule.

66 „ 9 „ 0
„ 5,325 × 9 = 47,925
or as ℔ Table 47,906
the nearest, opposite which 6 „ 9 „ 0

Rs...73 „ 2 „ 0

EXPLANATION.

The Bond being for Sa. Rs. 5,000—it is in the first place converted into Co.'s Rs. by multiplying the amount by 6½ the rate of Exchange, and dividing by 100, which gives 325; this sum added to the Siccas (5,000) gives the result in Co.'s Rs. 5,325. The period that intervenes between the last payment of Interest (31st Decr.) and the date of purchase (9th May) is 3 Months and 9 Days. Compute the Interest for the quarter or 3 Months by the Rule, by dividing Rs. 5,325 by 100, and adding to it ¼ of the quotient: Rs. 53 „ 4 „ 0 + 13 „ 5 „ 0 = Rs. 66 „ 9 „ 0. The Interest for the broken period of 9 Days is ascertained by Rs. 5,325 × 9 = 47,925, and the result Rs. 6 „ 9 „ 0 obtained by a reference to the Tables. These two sums added together Rs. 66 „ 9 „ 0 + 6 „ 9 „ 0 give Rs. 73 „ 2 „ 0 the Interest for the time required.
